Technically speaking

This wine was grown in one of our top vineyards in the centre of the Wairau Valley in Marlborough. The 2014 harvest followed a warm ripening period with above average sunshine hours, resulting in grapes with exceptional flavour concentration and intensity. Once optimal ripeness was reached, the fruit was selectively harvested and whole berry pressed directly to barrel for gentle juice extraction. This minimal handling preserves the delicate aromatics and subtle texture now found in this wine. For fermentation, a selection of new and seasoned French oak barrels were carefully chosen. One third of the barrels were allowed to ferment naturally, with the remaining barrels inoculated with two specially chosen yeast strains. Lees ageing for 10 months in barrel further enhanced the texture and complexity of the wine, resulting in a truly elegant Marlborough Chardonnay.
